

THE BOOK THIEF

The book thief is a story about a girl called Liesel that was adopted by two parents. At first the mother thought she was strange but later they spent good time together. The next morning a boy called Rudy that was his neighbour took Liesel to school. That night Liesel's stepfather taught her how to read. One week later a boy called Max came to Liesel's house because where he lived they were in war, so he slept in their basement. One month later, Max was sick and Liesel read him a lot of books. Two days later, Max had to leave the house because he thought he was putting Liesel's family in danger. At the end, some soldiers shot bombs to the houses in the village.

Protagonist-character

- Liesel: She is a girl who likes reading books and learning lots of new things. She lives with her stepfather and stepmother. Her best friend is Rudy.
- Hans: He is Liesel stepfather. He plays the accordion. He loves his family and he had to go to the war.
- Rosa: She is Liesel stepmother. She loves her family but sometimes she is very strict with Liesel and Hans.
- Max: He is a boy who slept in their basement because he was hiding from the police and he loves Liesel.
- Rudy: He is a boy whose house is in front of Liesel's house, so they are neighbours. They are also best Friends. Rudy is a good boy that lives with his parents but his father had to go to war.

Background-where it happened

This film was made in Germany, in a small village. The village had a big house for the main person and the rest of the houses were small for the people from the village.

The best scene and the worst scene

In my opinion, the best scene was when Liesel, Hans, Rosa and Max played with the snow in their basement.

The worst scene was when Rosa, Hans and Rudy died.

Why do you like it or don't like it?

At first I didn't like the film because it was an ordinary live but at the end the film shows how they lived in the past while there was war.
